

Coming this Fall: New Responsible Conduct of Research and Scholarly Activity (RCR) Seminar Series

The UNE Office of Research/Office of Research Integrity is launching a new seminar series this fall to enhance learning opportunities and share new resources with students, faculty, and professional staff. The series will be recorded (via zoom) and archived in order to serve as an ongoing resource to the UNE scholarly community.

Topics will include (but are not limited to): medical ethics, rigor and reproducibility in research, research misconduct, animal care and use in research, human subjects research, data management policies, authorship, and student mentoring in research.

A new RCR resource web page is currently under development and will be launched this fall as well.

Upcoming RCR events include:

- 1- Wednesday, September 7, 2022 at 12 – 1 pm : Intro to RCR: Joining the Community of Scholars Speaker: Dr. Karen L. Houseknecht, UNE Research Integrity Officer (RIO)
- 2- Thursday, August 11, 2022 at 1:30 – 4 pm: NIH Webinars on NIH Data Management and Sharing Policy – 1 : Understanding the New NIH Data Management and Sharing Policy ORS is hosting live at Pickus Conference Room 214. Host: Nick Gere, Director of Sponsored Programs
- 3- Thursday, September 22, 2022 at 1:30 – 4 pm: NIH Webinars on NIH Data Management and Sharing Policy – 2 : Diving Deeper into the New NIH Data Management and Sharing Policy ORS is hosting live at Stella Maris Ross Conference Room. Host: Bob Kennedy, Director of Research Integrity